Parasite Test

The Parasite Test is very popular and can provide extraordinary answers to people's health where doctors and other health professionals were not able to give any help. Parasites are becoming much more prevalent and can be picked up in the UK and from infected water and food supplies abroad. We generally think of parasite infections as causing acute gastrointestinal symptoms. However, an increasing number of parasitic cases feature systemic complaints not traditionally associated with parasites, such as: Crohns, IBS (Irritable Bowel Syndrome), ulcerative colitis, infertility, severe skin complaints, reactive arthritis, migraines, headaches, alopecia, hormonal imbalances, chronic fatigue syndrome, asthma and M.E. We have also had many tests back for those with bowel and liver cancer showing TMC for parasites (Too Many to Count) and coincidentally when these peoples parasites were eradicated, the client was given the all clear from cancer. We are now working closely with oncologists in this area

Candida Test

The Candida test also identifies levels of good bacteria, pathogenic or harmful bacteria, as well as yeasts and fungal overgrowth including Candida. Certainly, over the last 20 years, Candida has been very much one of the main causes of bloating, weight gain and lowered immune systems as well as tiredness, constipation, headaches, indigestion, acid reflux, skin rashes, eczema, acne, cravings, dark circles under the eyes, psoriasis, dry skin, brittle nails, and other 'nagging' problems.

However, in the last few years new, more virulent bacteria are being seen in the test results and people with bacterial infections seems to have any of the above problems but with more severity. The bacteria seem to be more aggressive and are very resistant. The Candida Test and Parasite Test includes testing for these bacteria and a protocol is provided showing the bacteria's susceptibility and resistance levels to a variety of antibiotics as well as giving a protocol using natural, herbal supplements.
